President's Welcome

Hello everyone,

It gives me great pleasure to welcome you to the Australian College of Mental Health Nurses' 39th International Conference.

Over the past year, College staff at National Office, our professional conference organisers and the local organising committee have been working hard to bring you a relevant, engaging and quality international Conference.

The Conference theme, Collaboration and Partnerships in Mental Health Nursing, reflects the changing practice domain and the importance of partnerships to the profession. As mental health nurses we collaborate and work in partnership with consumers and carers, with national and international individual and groups, across professions to foster improvements in mental health care and to bridge the theory practice gap. We also work collaboratively across an increasing spectrum of clinical areas and with government and non-government organisations. Collaboration and partnerships have also enabled us to work outside of the health silo to strive to improve the quality of life for consumers and carers within the community.

Delegates have the opportunity to consider the significance of the conference theme to their professional lives and in the positioning of Mental Health Nursing into the future.

This year's scientific program provides something for everyone throughout the conference. It encompasses numerous streams: models of collaboration; changing practice domains; community engagement; academics and clinicians; international/inter-professional; diverse populations; consumers and carers; and cross collaborations.

I invite all delegates to take part in the many other activities associated with the conference including the Investiture and Oration ceremony, at which the Mental Health Nurse of the Year and Mental Health Nurse Achievement Awards will be presented. Members are invited to attend the Annual General Meeting and Members' Forum – both of which provide an opportunity to find out what the College has been doing over the past year and where we are heading.

This is my first Conference as President and I look forward to chatting with many of you throughout the course of the Conference and at the formal and social functions. I hope you get as much out of the event as I know I will.

Professor Wendy Cross
President, ACMHN Inc

Conference Host Welcome

The Western Australian Branch is excited to be hosting the Australian College of Mental Health Nurses' International Mental Health Nursing Conference in Perth. I welcome you to our vibrant city that continues to grow very quickly. Being so isolated here on the West Coast, this Conference not only gives you the chance to visit us, but it gives local members a wonderful opportunity to attend the Conference closer to home.

The Conference theme this year is 'Collaboration and Partnerships in Mental Health Nursing'. This will display the changing practice domain and the importance of partnerships to the profession. As mental health nurses we collaborate and work in partnership with consumers and carers, with national and international partners, inter-professionally to foster improvements in mental health care, to bridge the theory practice gap between universities and the clinical areas. We also work collaboratively across an increasing spectrum of clinical areas with government and non-government organisations. Collaboration and partnerships has also assisted us to work outside of the health silo to strive to improve the quality of life for consumers and carers living in the community.

I hope that your stay in Perth is really enjoyable; the host committee will do everything possible to make your experience at this Conference an intellectually stimulating, satisfying and memorable event. Welcome to Perth.

Lee Collison
Local Committee Host

Caring for your career

Bridging the education gap in mental health

We have your education needs covered

The Australian College of Nursing offers a wide range of education options for nurses working within mental health and at every stage of their career.

If you are looking to enhance your knowledge in the field of mental health, in your own time and from the comfort of your home, consider our distance education (DE) subjects. They're also an ideal option if you're not quite ready to pursue a full graduate certificate course.

Some of the mental health related subjects include: Drug and alcohol nursing practice, Child and adolescent mental health nursing, Dementia care and Addiction nursing.

And if you've recently moved into a managerial role or if you're looking to step up in future, our Graduate Certificate in Leadership and Management can help you get started.

Our short CPD courses can help you meet your annual CPD target and meet the requirements of your annual authority to practice renewal.

Our courses are designed for registered and enrolled nurses and are delivered face to face CPD courses across Australia.

Our face to face CPD selection includes Understanding mental health (three days), Physical health care in mental health (two days), Nursing patients with an intellectual disability (two days) and Understanding dementia (one day).

We are also expanding our suite of online CPD courses so stay tuned for more details as these become available.

For a full list of graduate certificate courses, DE single subjects and CPD courses, please contact:

21st Oration and Investiture Ceremony

Academic gowns sponsored by

The President, Board of Directors and CEO are joined by invited dignitaries, Life Members, Fellows, members and delegates for an official formal Oration and Investiture ceremony. Here, the President, on behalf of the Board of Directors and the College, invest Life Members, Fellows and new members to the organisation and share their celebration in belonging to Australia's peak professional mental health nursing organisation. The 'Mental Health Nurse of the Year' and 'Mental Health Nurse Achievement Award' will also be presented at this important formal official College event.

ACMHN Mental Health Nurse of the Year Award

Co-sponsored by

This prestigious award was established in 2008 to publicly recognise the achievements of mental health nurses, encourage professional development amongst mental health nurses and promote the importance of mental health nursing as a speciality. The ACMHN Mental Health 'Nurse of the Year' is announced at the Oration and Investiture Ceremony.

ACMHN Mental Health Nurse Achievement Award

Co-sponsored by

The Mental Health 'Nurse Achievement' Award is presented to a mental health nurse who is beginning to be recognised nationally for their leadership as a clinician, manager, educator or researcher. For example, early career researchers, clinicians, managers or educators who are making innovative changes in practice or pushing the boundaries of scope of practice.

Partnership in Wellbeing Awards and Conference Dinner

Supported by

The Partnerships in Wellbeing Awards and Conference Dinner is the premier social event of the ACMHN Annual Conference. It is an opportunity to catch up with old friends and colleagues, put faces to names and expand your professional network in a relaxed and sophisticated environment. This year, the dinner will be held at the Pan Pacific Hotel, Golden Ballroom. You will be treated to a five star menu thanks to the ongoing support from Eli Lilly. Entertainment will be provided by Kaviar DJs Perth, with dancing till late. Please note: there will be a cash bar for drinks during the dinner this year.

The Partnership in Wellbeing Awards are unique in that they recognise and provide support for innovative programs that assist people living with a mental illness to optimise their lifestyles and improve their quality of life. The Awards celebrate the 'partnership' between mental health nurse and consumer; they are designed to support programs that have not attracted significant funding from other sources and are a departure from core business (for example, projects that should normally be funded by the state should not be included). A major award and two recognition awards will be announced on the night.

The Stan Alchin Award

Continuing a tradition of 21 years, the Stan Alchin Award will be presented during the closing ceremony of the Conference. The Award honours Stan Alchin's commitment to mental health and mental health nursing. It was inaugurated and funded by Rozelle Hospital, where Stan Alchin undertook his influential work in Australian mental health nursing education. The Stan Alchin Award is presented to honour and recognise the primary place of clinical practice in mental health nursing. The Stan Alchin Award goes to the outstanding clinical paper presented at the Conference by current practicing clinician(s).

ACMHN Research Award

Supported by

This important award was established to acknowledge excellence in mental health nursing research. Research papers are evaluated against a set of criteria, including relevance to mental health nursing, methodology and methods, internal consistency, contribution to knowledge, ethical considerations, and presentation performance.

Keynote Speakers

Professor Pat Dudgeon – Mental Health Commissioner

Pat Dudgeon is acknowledged as Australia's first Indigenous Psychologist. From the Bardi people of the Kimberley, Pat is known for her passionate work in psychology and Indigenous issues and her leadership in Indigenous higher education. Pat is the Chair of Australian Indigenous Psychologists Association (AIPA), a member of the Indigenous Strategies Working Group, a Research Fellow and Associate Professor at the University of Western Australia and a member of the Mental Health Expert Working Group. Pat was the first convener of the Australian Psychological Society

Interest Group: Aboriginal Issues, Aboriginal People and Psychology. In 2008 she was the first Aboriginal psychologist to be awarded the grade of Fellow in the Australian Psychological Society. Throughout her career she has been instrumental in convening many conferences and discussion groups at national levels to ensure that Indigenous issues are part of the agenda in the discipline.

Professor Dawn Freshwater – Professor of Mental Health & Pro-Vice Chancellor University of Leeds

Dawn Freshwater is Professor of Mental Health and Pro-Vice Chancellor for Staff and Organisational Effectiveness at the University of Leeds. She is the elected representative for Nursing in England on the Council of Deans for Nursing and Midwifery and Trustee of the Florence Nightingale Foundation. As a fellow of the Royal College of Nursing and a health professional and academic of some 30 years' experience, she has developed a portfolio of research that spans issues of workforce strategy and practice development, leadership in organisational effectiveness and change.

Dawn's mental health expertise means that she is currently leading on a number of research grants totalling £2,350M in grant income, related to offender health and psychological therapies, has supervised 15 PhD students to completion, has 15 text books and over 50 academic papers in press. She is the Editor of the Journal of Psychiatric and Mental Health nursing and has recently been appointed to the Journal of Mixed Methods Research.

Lt Col Cate McGregor – Author, journalist, thinker & political strategist

Catherine McGregor is a graduate of the Royal Military College Duntroon, which she entered in 1974 as male named Malcolm McGregor. After graduation she filled a number of regimental appointments as an infantry officer - commanding a rifle platoon and the Machine Gun Platoon in the 8th/9th Battalion the Royal Australian Regiment and serving as an instructor at the Jungle Training Centre Canungra. She commanded the Australian Army Training Team and served as the political adviser and translator for the Commander of Australian Forces in East Timor. She has filled staff appointments as the Deputy Director of Strategy at Army Headquarters, and has been the speech writer to the Chiefs of the Army since 2001.

For a number of years Cate was a civilian during which time she worked in politics and the media. She was the Chief of Staff to the Honourable Bob Carr and also served as a speech-writer to The Honourable Kim Beazley. Cate commenced gender transition in June 2012 and since the 8th of July 2012 has been known as Catherine (Cate) McGregor. In 1985 she published a biography of Paul McLean and in 2012 she released Indian Summer-Reflections on Australia's Summer Game. She was awarded the Order of Australia in the Military Division for exceptional service to the Australian Army on Australia Day 2012.

Professor Eimear Muir-Cochrane – Chair of Nursing (Mental Health) Flinders University

Eimear Muir-Cochrane is Chair of Nursing (Mental Health) at Flinders University with adjunct professorial positions at City University London and the University of South Australia and a Fellow of ACMHN. Eimear is the Chair of Academic Senate at Flinders University (a nomination of the Vice Chancellor) and an expert member on the Registered Nurse Accreditation Committee for ANMAC and the Mental Health Professional Online Development national project. As a clinician and academic Eimear has been involved in teaching and research since 1983 with her first publication in the Nursing Mirror (UK) in 1984 about the nurse as a change agent.

Eimear's career has focussed on investigating nursing practice in relation to working with people with mental health problems, in acute and community settings and across the life span. Eimear has 10 completed PhD students, examined 14 theses, published over 70 refereed journal articles and attracted over 1 million dollars in research income to date and several state and national research and teaching awards. In particular, her research about seclusion and restraint has facilitated policy change regarding nursing practice and increased focus on the nature of the experience of being in a psychiatric ward.

Dr Frances Hughes – Chief Nursing & Midwifery Officer QHealth

Frances Hughes commenced in the role of Chief Nursing and Midwifery Officer for the Queensland Department of Health in March 2012. She has extensive knowledge and networks in relation to health policy particularly in the field of nursing and mental health, research, and global health issues.

For 8 years, Frances held the position as the Chief Nurse for New Zealand. Frances was instrumental in the development of government policy around nurse prescribing, primary health care, health line and rural schemes, mental health and nurse practitioners. Frances was the first nurse to be awarded the Harkness Fellowship in Health Care Policy from the Commonwealth Fund in New York. In 2004 Frances was appointed as the first Professor of Nursing at Auckland University, Chair of Mental Health Nursing and established the centre for mental health policy, research and service development. From 2005 through to 2011 Frances worked for World Health Organisation (WHO) as the Facilitator for the Pacific Island Mental Health Network (PIMHNet).

Frances is an established scholar and has extensive publication record. Her scholarship and research interests are Mental Health, Health Policy and Nursing. Frances was awarded the New Zealand Order of Merit in 2005 for her Services to Mental Health. In 2011, Frances received a Fulbright Senior Scholarship followed by a Distinguished Alumni Service Award from Massey University in New Zealand in 2013.

Pastor Keith Carmody – WA Police Chaplain

Keith Carmody is one of two full-time chaplains with the Western Australia Police and has over 31 years of pastoral experience. In the 15 years of service with WA Police he has attended numerous critical incidents and tragic events requiring his experience and expertise. Keith also has a strong interest in Aboriginal youth and is currently working on a project that is developing an Indigenous placement program and partnership between the AFL and the WA Police.

Orator

Professor Wendy Cross, Head, School of Nursing and Midwifery, Monash University, Faculty of Medicine, Nursing and Health Sciences

Professor Wendy Cross started her nursing career as a hospital trainee in the 1970s. She then went on to become a mental health nurse. She has maintained an active clinical role across her varied career in adult acute mental health and currently works in an enhanced crisis team in a large emergency department and also provides clinical supervision to a range of mental health nurses.

Wendy joined Monash University in 2007 as Associate Professor, Mental Health Nursing, in the School of Nursing and Midwifery. She was appointed Professor and Head of the School of Nursing and Midwifery in 2009. Prior to commencing her work at Monash Wendy held senior appointments in nursing at Southern Health, Deakin University and the University of Western Sydney. She is the current Deputy Chair of the Council of Deans of Nursing and Midwifery (Australia & New Zealand) and is a member of many committees and working groups focussing on health, education, and nursing. She is a board Director for Chisholm Institute of TAFE, the Nursing and Midwifery Health Program (Victoria) and Bentleigh Bayside Community Health.

EVENT HIGHLIGHT: CONFERENCE DINNER

Proudly sponsored by

People caring for people

Join us for a memorable evening of good food, fine wine and exciting entertainment, featuring our unusual dinner speaker: Mick the Demotivational Speaker. According to Mick, "Excellence is too hard to maintain - but mediocrity maintains itself!" He will tell us all how to aim low, avoid responsibility and undermine each other.

Don't miss Mick's hilarious take on how we can lower standards in nursing and midwifery!

Tickets to this function are not included with registrations. You are welcome to attend the dinner if not attending the conference. Contact the Conference Secretariat to book your tickets early to avoid missing out on the most-anticipated event on the social program.
